Amref International University (AMIU) is an institution of higher learning focused on training in health sciences in Africa and is fully owned by Amref Health Africa. AMIU has nurtured leaders and shaped the future of public health practice in Africa for over 40 years under its predecessor Amref International Training Centre (AITC).

The University focuses on health systems training and research in preventive, promotive, rehabilitative and palliative health.

AMIU programmes are informed by the latest thinking and most up-to-date research focusing on equipping health workers with skills, knowledge and attitude to enable them to respond to the Universal Health Coverage (UHC) Agenda and inspire lasting change.
